1. The fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 2 of this table that are independent of the claim in column 1 of this table. If the number of independent claims in column 2 of this table is greater than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of independent claims in column 2 of this table. If the number of independent claims in column 2 of this table is less than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 1 of this table.

2. The fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 2 of this table that are dependent on the claim in column 1 of this table. If the number of dependent claims in column 2 of this table is greater than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of dependent claims in column 2 of this table. If the number of dependent claims in column 2 of this table is less than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 1 of this table.

3. The fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 2 of this table that are multiple dependent on the claim in column 1 of this table. If the number of multiple dependent claims in column 2 of this table is greater than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of multiple dependent claims in column 2 of this table. If the number of multiple dependent claims in column 2 of this table is less than the number of claims in column 1 of this table, the fee for a claim in column 1 of this table is determined by the number of claims in column 1 of this table.
